By BETTY MARTIN

their approval upon a project, success is a foregone conclusion, No one recognizes the truth of this statement more deeply than a the atrical manager,

And that is the reason why Tony Lubelski's face wears an expansive smile now-a-days. He has won feminine approval of the new regime, in stituted just two weeks ago at the Novelty Theater, of which he is proknows where he's at. Having been accorded judgment, he intends to maintain a high standard of attractions at his house, which by the way, is the second oldest vaudeville theater in Oakland.

From A to Z

Mr. Lubelski knows the business from A to Z. He is a plucky man, of the type which always wins out. A few months ago, large sums of money were expended in making the Novelty Theater over to suit the demands of its patrons. From stage to gallery the good work went on, and as a consequence andiences are assured of personal com ort while enjoying the shows. Of additional value to patrons is the ease with which the gallery empties into the street. There are two methods o' egress; one through the main body of the theater, the other by means of a wide stairway leading directly to the street below.

Busy Lubelski

The manager's business office is at the front of the house, midway between the main floor and the gallery brightly carpeted room. 'And here, on Thursday, the eventful "Ladies' Day" at the theater-the occasion on which Eva Fay was the star attraction. I had a short chat with Mr. Lubelsk! regarding the future policy of the Novelty Theater. This talk was of an intermittent nature, for the office assistant had failed as yet to put in ar appearance. Consequently Mr. Lubelski was continually on the jump answering outstions regarding the matinee. The elephone kept up a ting-a ling, ling! And these were variable replies:

"Yes. This afternoon," to be allowed in the house."

"It begins at three, yes. And ends about half past four."

"You're welcome. Goodbye."

Vaudeville City

"Oaklane," declared Mr. Lubelski, with a positiveness which admitted of no contradiction, "is devoted to vaudeville." And if anyone is qualified to judge public taste in this direction, it is this keen-witted manager, who has sampled the appetite, and is now prepared to enter to it.

It would be a breach of falth to name any lady present at the matinee. Likewise would it be an act of baseness to betray any of the secrets exposed. This much, however, I will say: The matince at the Novelty Theater last Thursday afternoon was a most representative one, and included a fair preportion of names to be found in social and club lists.

The answers to the questions propounded were as a general proposition so accurate as to strike amazement in the breast of the propounders. And se successful was the affair as a whole that two more maticees for ladles have been decided upon. One will be on Monday next. The other, on Thursday dian Louses. Whether "it" was interied to mean the whole business, or returned only to the ladies, I did not inquie, but turned again to Mrs. Fay, who, enveloped in a long wrap of lace and respon, thrown over her satin stage cost: ne, and, still vearing the diadem which adds to height, "batted," if such : term might be used, skillfully. She is skilled as passing compliments, and quite accidentally, did she open by eyes to a circumstance connected lith my own calling in connection with the people of the stage. After expressing pleasure at the meeting, which like Alphonse, declared was a mutual one, she said:

"I really mean it. I am fond of my own sex, and their deficider always. Perhans that's why I like to be interviewed by a woman—a nun in San Francisco-" Now I'm not quoting Mrs. Eva Fay exactly, but in a sensewas surprised at me or this. #### Additional Features

In addition to Eva Fay, there are billed for next week's performance at the Novelty Theater, several attractions, varied to suit the taste. Among these are the male quartette, and the Lamonts in a musical stunt. Attractive Homes Being Erected, as Well as Apartment Houses and Big Business Buildings.

BERKELEY, Dec. 12—If the present rate of building operations in this city continues for the next two weeks the month of December bids fair to be the banner month of the year in the office of Building Inspector Bull. In addition to the unusual number of apartment and tioning houses that are under construc-tion and planned for the various sections of the city, new homes are being erected in one y locality, and according to the prophe less of builders and really mea, the building totals for the coming quarter the binding totals for the coming quarter will surpass all previous records.

The character of the homes which are going up, particularly in the suburban districts, is a source of unlimited satisfaction to all Berkelevans. And the equal distribution of the noted improvements in every corner of the town indicates in even and healthy growth. cates in even and healthy growth.

PRETENTIOUS HOMES.

Among the more pretentious residences for which contracts have been granted during the past week is the handsome home which will be built for S. O. Johnson, 2402 Waring street, at the corner of Waring street and Channing way. The building will be two tories in height and will contain fifteen recorns it will be building will be two stories in height and will contain fifteen rooms. It will be equipped with every modern convenience, and will be a decided acquisition to an already attractive section of the city. When completed it will represent an outling of $10,000. The architect is L. A. Tullgar it. A stable and garage of artistic design will be creeted on the Waring street side of the property, and will cost $2500.

$2500 J. J. Mason is building an attractive home in Oak Knoll Terrace, near Garber street. The building is two stories and a half in height, and contains eight nooms. It will cost $1728. One of the most a tistic cottages planned by local home-building is a five-room bungalow which is being built on Buncroft way, near McKinaley street, by P. A. DeVeue, it will cost $3000. #### GOVERNMENT DISMISSES JAP SLAVE GIRL CASE

SEATTLE, Wash., Drc. 12.—The case of Captain T. R. Gawley of Sellingham, who was arrested several weeks ago with the three Japanese women on a charge of procuring Japanese girls for illegal purposes, set for preliminary hearing yesterday, was dismissed. No reasons are given by the government for the dismissal, the matter being the result of a conference between the United States attorney's office and Gawley's attorney.

Big Meeting to Be Held in N. Y. December 18 by Both Factions.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—History is to repeat itself in New York on December 16, when meetings for and against won:an suffrage will be held. Rival demonstrations of this character were held only last week and the coming clash, as it were, is a direct result of one of the former, at which Dr. Lyman Abbott declared that college women did not want to vote.

It seems that there are many college women in the city who differ deeidedly with this view and with the ntention of emphasizing it to the publie, a mass meeting will be held at the Berlieley Lyceum on the date named. There will be a great array of college banners and placards bearing the cry of "Women for women."

The meeting will be under the auspices of the College Equal Suffrage League and it is said that Mrs. Clarence Mackay and Mrs. Russell Sage vill be present. The demonstration will be held on the evening following a meeting in the afternoon of the so-called "antis," who oppose suffrage for women, and who are conducting their campaign under the name of the National League for the Civic Educa-tion of Women.

Society Vaudeville which will be given at the Macdonough Theator next Sa urday afternoon for the benefit of the Ladies' Relief Rehearsals have been held twice each Week for the past two months, and the show promises to surpass all previous events. Many unique and original features will be introduced this year. Rehearsals will be held daily from now until the performance. The young soclety folks who are so generously giving their lime for this worthy charity are having some fun with their work, rehearsals being held in the Idora Purk Theater. The banquet room which was offered for their use at the Key Route Hotel was found to be too small, and the cozy Parl. Theater was fortunately

All who have attended the rehearsals are enthusiastic of the vaudeville. Tickets are being rapidly disposed of and a handsome sum will be added to the fund necessary to carry on the Temescal institution.

The effort is largely due to Willard Barton Jr., who is managing all of the arrangements. The costumes are to be very claborate and the settings artistic. Many snappy songs will be introduced, and the graceful dances are to be far the best ever given.

Miss Vera Havemeyer has a prominent part. Her duct with Arthur Hooper will be one of the gems on the program. Miss Ione Fore has kindly consected to take the place made vacant by the withdrawal of Mrs Paul Dinsmore.

The monolegue which is to be given by Mrs. Frank Hus is exceedingly clever. An amusing number will be the "Character Sketch in Slang," by Earl Beatle and Fred Samuels.

Several San Francisco society folks have kindly given their services for this occasion

The one-act playlet to be given by Mrs. Nat Me ser, Redmond Flood and McDonald Spencer will be a splendid number. With such a splendid army of talent it would be impossible to select any particular number as being better than the other, The program from beginning to end will be full of

FRIEDMA DAY AT

OAKLAND, December 12, 1908; Dear Kat erine:

You know my failing for furs, so when I tell you!

what I s w at Friedman's yesterday you will know! how I en ned myself. I got mother a set of lynx and; they were levely. You know Friedman's are showing the most select line of furs in town. They bought early before the rage for lynx became so strong. It seems the the demand for lynx, real mink and black? furs has ecome so great throughout the United States that the demand far exceeds the supply, and the whole alers' price has increased nearly 50 per cent since Fri dman's purchased. This, of course, puts them in a position to quote prices far lower than com? petitors varo bought late.

Anothe novelty with Friedman's is the pointed and Baum M: ten foxes hat the fashionable women seem? to take to because hey give the wearer that air of distingue tot attained by some of the other furs. Their assortmen of real ermines, blue and Isabella as wells as the channer foxes is the prettiest I ever saw.

Inciden ally I not ced a fine display of dainty nets and lace vaists and messaline and taffetas, ranging from $2." to $7.50. Then, too, you will find some rich silk bettiebats, satin and silk rubber coats and beautiful ostemes and evening wraps at Friedman's In fact, the general time of the store inspires one with a feeling of confidence as to the quality of the merchandise.

By the way, Friedman's are having a big clearance sale on all their high-grade novelty and imported suits selling them at cost I saw one marked down from $75.00 to 42.50, and many others even cheaper-

CONCERNING HEALTH and BEAUTY By Mrs. Henry Symes

ssons for the Holiday Plan Aids to Correspondents Wing to the large mount of mail received and to limited pace given this der riment, it

ALL exercises intended to teach grace and beauty, dancing is the most useful, for it brings into flay every muscle of the body and len is to even the most ungraceful people poise and dignity. Therefore, the little girl who learns the steps of fancy dancing in early youth is very lucky, for by the time she is 15 years old she will have none of the ungainliness that belongs to the awkward age and she will have an erect carriage, which will be in itself a rare beauty.

And teaching children to dence is not a very difficult feat. It is only a matter of a few steps, which they themselves will soon amplify into a really pretty

The first position which they must learn is to stind perfectly erect, with heels together and the toes pointing out. This is the foundation step of all dancing and the position from which all uture steps are taken.

THE IMPORTANCE OF THE COURTESY

The next is one little step forward, with the bod swayed in a graceful manner, or one step back with a slight inclination. This last forms the courtesy, and you have no idea how important this it in after life. Many time at a formal entertainment and at balls, where the host and hoster paironesses stand at the door to receive, every one courtestes instead of shaking hands. It is a great saving of strength for both receiving party and guests. So, of course, one must learn to courtesy gracefully for it will not do to merely now, nor will it do to incline the head. The whole body must bend prettily, This much learned, why not teach the A Faithful Copy.

barn dance? It is very popular at present, and, as it must be done in a graceent, and, as it must be done in a grace-ful way, it is decidedly good exercise for and toes turned out, take one step forward with the right foot, bring the left up with a slight hop toward the front and then put it down in front of the right foot. This is repeated, and then the couple swing off into a waltz step The dance is, after all, nothing but the first and second positions endlessly re-

e BarnDance

With the steps used in dancing one must also learn to control the arms and hands so that both feet and hands will move in perfect unison and the body should always be held in an erect yet graceful position. This is one of the principal points in dancing, for while beautiful steps may be taken, they will be of no avail unless the arms are equally graceful. Then, too, the head must be held in an unstrained and natural position, no matter how intricate the steps may be, while the hands must also be at rest. All of this is conducive to self-control, or rather to the perfect control of all the muscles separately and

GAINING GRACE

It is almost needless to point out the perfect poise and the equilibrium acquired by the dances, for with the intricale stops, one foot must be made to support the entire weight, while the head and arms must be depended upon to maintain the center of gravity. It is, therefore, well worth while for little girls and boys to begin dancing even before they ere 8 years old. It is an exercise they will enjoy, and the trouble it takes to initiate them into its difficulties will be well rapaid when the awkward age arrives.

Tell him he does not show you proper respect. Understand, however, that this will not hold unless you are really engaged to the young man-unless he has asked you to marry him. It you are following that perniclous practice of keeping company, then you have no control over his actions.

Do not feel embartassed if you receive presents from persons whom you have not remembered with a gift.

Is it Necessary? Should a man take off his hat to another man when he meets him on the street?

It is not considered necessary that he unless the other man be accompinied by a lady or unless he be much older. In that case, of course, it is a question of respect. It is perhaps better to always bow politely when speak-

All About Gloves

ASHIONS in gloves come and go. Sometimes they are long, some-times they are short, sometimes they are half length But, no matter what their length, if they do not fit easily, the hands appear short and clumsy. The fingers of the glove should be quite as long as the fingers of the hand. Bosides, tight gloves do not last, which is an economical consideration, Refined and thoroughbred women never wear gloves too small for them, and many insi-t on a glove large enough to wrinkle, which may be taken off or put on in an instant. Kid gloves wear much longer when they are properly put on the first time. It is quite a science," said a charming woman. "The hand should be perfectly clean, dry and cool. Never put on gloves when the hands are moist or too waim"

Flist push in the four fingers, leaving the thumb out and the rest of the glove turned back over the hand. When the fingers are on, thanks to the gentle movements of the other hand, draw on the thumb with great care, placing the clow on the knee. After this, draw back the wrist of the glove and button the second button, continuing this all the way up. Then return to the first button, and you will see how easily it fastens without creeking the kid, which often happens if buttoned first. Besides this, the buttonhole will not be stretched, which is of great importance if one wishes the glove to look well as long as it asis. Never pull gloves off by the finger tips, but by the wrists. They will thus be turned wrong side out, and the moisture communicated from the hand be quickly evaporated. When they are dry, put them carefully away in a proper place. Otherwise, they will shrink, split easily, and be-come useless. Never roll up gloves. Place them at full length in a box or perfurned suchet. Light gloves should put away between two pieces of white flannel to preserve them from contact with dark gloves, which might stain them.

The Etiquette of Christmas Gifts

HRISTMA i presents to many represent the most important prob-lems of the year, for not only must they be purchased, but they must be carefully selected, wrapped and sent to their destination. All of this takes time, and sometimes many amusing con-tretemps arise from the custom of giving presents. And there is eliquette, too, that must be observed, for there are only certhings that men may present to girls, there are certain formalities about cards and the lke, and there are laws about the time the gifts are to be sent and how they are to be conveyed from the donor to the recipient.

There was on a nather impecunious young man whe was very much in love with a young woman, and when Christ-mas came around he realized that he must give her something, but the prob-lem was what? His limited means ferbade any of the ordinary gifts and, besides, he wished to show his regard by giving her something that was really nice and, perhaps, a little out of the ordinary. So at last he found a brilliant idea. He would give her a cake of very good sonp. Ec he accured the town to find the best, and finally discovered a pocketbook. This he dispatched to her,

But, unfortunately, the girl did not now the thought expended upon the little offering and did not know of the very small sum of money the young man had at his disposal, so she was very angry, and took the gift as a per-sonal insult to her cleanliness—a thought that the poor man could not

It really is quite a pathetic little tale. is it not? But, according to the rules of ctiquette, a man may give a girl to whom he is not engaged only three whom he is not engaged only three things-books, candy or flowers. Any one of these may be as handsome as could be desired, and any one of them may cost as much money as the young man may care to spend; but Mrs Grundy has decreed these many years that man to a young woman unless they be engaged to be married In that case he may, with propriety, give her any present, no matter how magnificent, save that it must not be wearing apparel or anything really useful-jewels, necklaces, rings-but not even a pair of silk

A "ONE-WAY" RULE

A girl seldom gives a man a present unless he be her flance. She need feel no hesitancy about accepting the three prescribed gifts from any and every man she knows, and she need not worry about giving something in return. Men give presents to girls, but girls are not called upon to send men presents unless they want to. In that case they may give books, a sofa cushion, bits of embroidery, or handknit neckties. The apparel rule does not define what men may receive from girls,

Presents are usually sent by messenger, by wall or by express, according to their star and the distance of their destination. When they are to be delivered by day before Christmas or early on Christmas morning. Of course no one would dream of giving a friend a present and asking, her to carry it home herself. Even if your friend comes to call while you are doing up the very giff you have intended for her, it must be laid aside until she has gone, when you will send it or take it to her house

The gift is to be a pleasant surprise, and must come without any trouble on the part of the recipient. Furthermore, never expect or ask her to open your gift in your presence. It's pulling a reyour presence. It soulling a restraint upon her that is not courteous, Also, never give to any one a present that is not done up in mper, and at-tractively done at that. He not send out your gifts as they came from the store, They are far more acceptable if they They are far more acceptable if they show some little personal touch; and when narrow red libbon may be purchased for 16 cents a piece of twolve yards, and when it is so leasonable and pretty, surely it is worth using for the tle curds or tags that are always sold in such great variety at this season of the year. A bit of holly, caught in the ibbon, shows that time and thought have been expended upon it, and makes doubly valuable the offering.

And when your friends show you their gifts take a little time to admire them and do not always compare their pos-

Learn, too, not to look upon Christmas as a time for getting all you can for as little as possible, and do not regard it as an exchange. If you are really fond of Mrs. Robinson send her some little gift. If she does not give anything to you, and if Mrs. Jones around the corner, that you did not bribe, does, do not worry Nothing made her do it and she probably did it from the same motive that made you offer a remembrance to Mrs. Robinson. And remember that it is for better to give presents to no one than to give a lot of useless things to your rich friends, thinking that you will get back better than you gave. Regard the holiday as a foast and look upon the presents as pledges of friendship and nothing more Bearing these two facts in mind, you cannot go wrong, either in the intricacles of the law of etiquette or in the better and more laudable law of love.

EEP in thought were both Carl and Ella. "I say, Ella," finally exclaimed

Carl, "I think I've found a way out of the trouble. You remember our trip through the old mirror to the Game Factory? Of course you do; no one could EVER forget that. Why not go there again and get some good ideas for a Christmas party?"

Elia was joyfully shaking her head yes, when suddenly a voice interrupted: "There's really no great need to go so far, inasmuch as the Wizard of Games far, inasmuch as the Wizard of Games is here before you."

Sure enough, there WAS the Wizard who conducted the Game Factory and who had provided games for boys and girls—and grown-ups, too-for many and many a century. Perched upon the mantel, with his legs curied up under him, his long, while beard reaching below the mantel ledge, he winked at them comically.

"Before I tell you of new games," suggested he, "suppose I relate how some of the old games originated.

"Snap dengen," you know, flustrates the ordeal of lire in the middle ages, the fire worship of Druid priests in ancient Britain, the horrible sacrifice of children to the god Moloch, and even the legend wherein is told how liercules slew the flaming dragen of Hysteria, which dined upon eternally burning fruit in an enchanted orchard.

"Do you play 'Oranges and Lemons'? I invented that a long time age. Children choose sides, elect captains and go all through a medieval battle, even down to the execution of prisoners.

"The Christmax Tree I suggested to men centuries age for the worship of their god Woden, who was said to shower down gifts from the forest trees upon favorites who wandered hencuth their branches. And the Yule log I gave them for the worship of the god Thor.

"Blindman's Buff' is taken from an old play portraying Diana and her nymphs, while Puss-in-Corner' came from the same source."

Then, just as Carl and Elia were beginning to gather ever so many suggestions for their party, didn't some one have to enter the room! Of course, the Wizard of Games disappeared like a flash, and the boy and girl decided that perhaps, after all, they would have to pay another visit to see him in his Game Factory.

Best Ways to Make Believe

THERE WERE FURITAN DAMSELS AND INDIANS AND CAVALIERS

to "make up" the little girl. You see, Aunt Hetly had taken part in real theatricals and know all about "making up." In response to the little girl's inquiries, she told something about this

There are, said she, two ways of making up. One is to make use of colored cowders dry. The face is first rubbed iver very carefully with vaseline. Then he powders are put on with a puff, and the colors blended with a hare's foot. In the other method the same powders are used mixed with grease, and known as grease paint. Deeper and more mellow tints can be had through the use of crease point, which comes in differentiated sticks or pencils, and which, when once applied, will not come off until the face is washed with vaseline or alcohol. In color the pencils range from the palest pink hue of a baby's face to the copper-brown of the American Indian, and every tint between may be obtained. Before using the sticks the face should be thoroughly rubbed with cold cream. Next a stick of grease paint of the fiesh color is dabled upon the face at four are used mixed with grease, and known or five places. This is rubbed over the face until the entire surface is evenly colored.

Then red paint is applied. If the fiesh tint to be obtained is brunette, the silck should be carmine; if blonde, a brickdust hue. In applying this stick to the face, the deepest color should be laid about the top of the cheekbone, and lighter and lighter down to the jaws.
Under each eye a blue line an eighth of an inch wide is drawn with a dark stick of grease paint. The eyelashes and eyebrows should be blackened and then given the desired shape. Close to the corners of the eyes small spots of red should be nelded.

Only with red, blue and black pencils can the attempt be made to after the features. To discusse the face, if a noso is "pug" or tip-tilted, a white line is drawn down its center to the very tip. If the cheeks are too plump, the lower half of them should be durkened, if cheekbones are high and the cheeks hollow beneath them, the former are whitened and the latter reddened. Wrinkles are made with a greass paint evebrows should be blackened and then haro's foot filled with dark, flesh-colored, or perhaps darkest red, powder. Carmine pigment is used to redden the lips, Aunt Retty explained that there are also face washes, made in many lints of fiesh color, which may be used instead of greass pain's or powder. "Now, dear, you will be able to 'make up' quite as well as I, wen't you?" she asked.

"Not quite so rapidly, anyhow," laughed Marjory, for by this time Aunt Helty was making the finish-

W HAT had the good Kris Krin-gle in his pack for her this year? Betty wondered. Inasmuch as it was Christmas Eve, she had a porfect right to wender. And then she began to dream about the ancestors. Would they come, as they did on Christmas Eve a year ago, and tell her many interesting stories about Christmas-tide in years gone by? But no, since the pleate ancestor had fought savagely with the cavalier ancestor when she last saw them, it did not seem likely that any of the ancestors would pay her an-

"Why, what is the metter!" exclaimed Betty, much alarmed by the cavaller's excited utterance, so unlike the gay, alry speech she was accustomed to hear.

"Of a truth, Lady Betty, sad things have I to impart. Thou knowest the little difficulty I had with thy pirate ancostor. Sorry, indeed, was I to mar the happiness of our little party upon that evening.

Bears are most plentiful in the early autumn, when they can have their fill of the rich juices of ripe huckleberries and blueberries."

Immediately after breakfast, Uncle Hubert and Ronald, accompanied by John, set forth on their hunt for bear. Each carried a large-callbered rifle They toiled northward for several miles until they came to a succession of little plateaus raised one above

By noon, however, they had sighted not a single bear, although as John pointed to the broken limbs of a choke-cherry tree, which Bruin had pulled down with his claws in order to feed, he observed that there were many traces of the animal. At length they retraced their steps, inasmuch as Uncle Hubert explained that after the first few hours from sunrise the bear took rafuge in sheltered ravines, sometimes along watercourses where he could be sheltered by the close-growing trees and where he could recline at case among the cool mosses at the bases of their trunks. Here he would remain until the late

Still Bruin kept himself hidden from view, and it was decided to return to camp for something to eat, before making a try some hours later,

"You stay here and signal us the course he takes." Uncle Hubert instructed John, while he and the lad proceeded to stulk the bear.

It was well that this precaution was taken, otherwise the two would soon have lost the direction of the bear, but they could always see the guide upon the rocky height, and obeyed his directions to travel to the right or left. All at once Uncle Hubert motioned to Rouald to stop, at the same time suntioning lim against making the slightest noise.

It will be interesting, geo-graphically, to become better ac-quainted with the conditions in those unknown regions in the vicinity of one of the poles and it will be an in-point it is my intention to make oceanographic observations. And from the moment the vessel becomes fast in the ice a series of observations will be begun with which I hope to solve some of the hitherto unsolved mysteries."

Not "Dash for the Pole"

Captain Amundson's expedition, contrary, to the popular conception of Arctic exploring expeditions, is not conceived as a "lash for the North Pole." He is not storming the Pole and is not even after a record for reaching the most northerly point ever recorded.

The object of his expedition is to make oceanographic observations in the Arctic basin, where conditions for "Three-fourths of the earth's surface is water and only one-fourth is land," writes the explorer. "We know the location and boundaries of most of the land, but explorations of the oceans have been little thought of. The man who came from an exploring expedition and merely reported a new wen was not regurded as successful. But there are great mysteries to be solved that are of interest and value to men and science.

Head of Veterinary College in Michigan Arrested For Cruelty.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Dec 12—A viviscetion case begun in the police court yesterday brought an attendance of 200 students from the Grand Rapids Veterinary College. The charge in the case is crucity to animals. 'Dt. II. L Schuth director of the college, is the defendant and Timothy R. Turner, a reporter, was the principal witness. Turner testified that when he visited a clinic he saw several students operating at one time upon a blind horse, He said he asked why the horse was not given an antesthetic and was told it was not necessary to give anaesthetics to "old skates." He declared he saw six operations performed without the use of anaesthetics and that when a horse crazed by pain managed to break away, it was recaptured and the operation resumed.

ADVERTISING COUPON TEST

CUT OUT THE COUPON

It's Worth Real Money to You

A Practical Christmas Present is Now Possible Without Feeling the Cost

This "Advertising Test Coupon," in connection with our Great Annual Clearance Sale, now going on, makes it possible for you to save a large portion of your piano money, and at the same time give us positive and valuable knowledge of the business producing powers of the different San Francisco and Oakland papers in which we advertise.

It is an expensive test, as we will actually give away during this sale several thousand dollars in testing the business pulling powers of the different papers. This, in addition to our already very great reductions of from $100 to $150 and more on some instruments during our great Anmual Clearance Sale, now going on, will cause every man or woman who must pay some little attention to economy and who intends to make the purchase of a piano within the next year, to come here now and reap a double benefit.

Be sure and cut out the coupon. The premium or Cash Coupon Credit will not be given extept you present coupon to cashier when you make your first cash payment at time of purchase, and no premium will be allowed any purchaser except they present coupon, as this is purely an advertising test. This announcement and coupon will appear in other San Francisco and Oakland papers, and after this great Annual Clearance Sale closes the coupons we take on sales will be credited to the different papers, and our advertising appropriation for 1909 will be placed according to the business producing returns given on this test. In other words, the paper furnishing the most customers will receive a greater proportion of our future advertising. It will be costly but valuable inside information known only to our Advertising Manager, who during the year will no doubt save in his department a much larger amount than this test will cost.

NO CRIME TO ILL TREAT GERMAN SOLDIER

BERLIN. Dec. 12. - Six weeks mild imprisonment, which might just as well be called a vacation, as the punishment which a court-martial at Metz has seen fit to impose upon a regimental bandmaster convicted of having cruelly ill-treated his subordinates on 1280 separate counts. The court only investigated 855 charges, which were all supported by strong evidence.

There is great indignation at the sentence, and it is pointed out that to ill-treat a soldler in Germany, according to the decision of the court-mar-tial, costs only a little more than an hour's pleasant relief from duty on full

President of Board Urges the Establishment of Free Dental Departments.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Hespitals in this country pay too little attention to the teeth, says Dr. John W Brannan, president of the board of directors of Bellevue Hospital, in suggesting a free dental department for the institution. While Believue has already made provision for doing the dental work of patients, it is Dr. Brannan's plan to provide free dental work for all who are unable to pay dentists' bills.

"English hospitals have paid more attention to the teeth than those on this side," said Dr. Brannan. "That's where we got the idea from. Our dental department was opened to look after the teeth of children confined in the hospital, but we hope to greatly breaden the scope."

LANGFORD-FLYNN CONTEST ATTRACTING INTEREST

BOSTON BLACK SHOWS UP GREAT IN HIS EVERY DAY GRIND OF GYMNASIUM WORK

Sam Langford, Like Flynn, is Great Worker

Langford Shows Class in His Work and Will no Doubt Prove an Interesting Ring-man in Battle With Flynn.

LANGFORD INTERESTING.

I said yesterday that it was a treat to watch Fiynn work in the gymnasium, well it is equally so to watch the husky black man from Boston, for without injuring anyone or without taking anyone or without taking anyone without taking anyone or without taking anyone the different fighters who have ben training hereabouts for the past year or so, it can truthfully be said that Sam looks more like a sightor in the gymnasium than any of them.

A person who knows anything at all about the boxing game would know that he is a fighter the minute he punches the bag. It is not that he punches the ball with any fancy punches, for during the work of yesterday he did not try a fancy move once it is the manner in which he hits the flying sphere, the solidness of the whack and the way that the arm, with lighting like rapidilay, shoots out from the shoulder and with very few except ons lands aquarely.

Fact is, it is un accessary for the colored man to even put a glove on his hands to convince the experienced person that he is a nexer of merit, his every nove indicates a natural boxer. And this no doubt is ust what Langford is, an anatural boxer, for he has never had a real lesson in the fine arts of the game and has never ber pampered and petted as most fighters have. Yet with all this no doubt is ust what Langford is, an anatural boxer, for he has never had as meter ber pampered and petted as most fighters have. Yet with all this no doubt is ust what Langford is, an anatural boxer, for he has never had a real lesson in the fine arts of the game and has never ber pampered and petted as most fighters have. Yet with all this no doubt is ust what Langford is, an another kidding spell by the fighter, he stepped in and about farmler with the case of a cat playing with a haif dead minuse, and just to show how easily the fellow would be hit he resputed as the opposing fighter comes with him being and the provided to forth who had a feather weight as a doubt he had dead in a called him and the chances in the life

FLYNN LIKE CARTER.

FLYNN LIKE CARTER.

Tim handled Smith twice against Walcott and for that reason he says that he is well aware of the sort of lighters it takes to beat men like Walcott, and he connects Walcott and Langford together as being just allike

"You all know what Wid Carter did to Walcott when he was unable to beat men that the colored mar could beat," continued the philosophi al McGrath, "and I have in Flynn just such a fighter as Carter, and the other follow has just another Walcott, and that is all. Why, when Jim gets to tearing into the clever Rosion fighter he will do to him what Carter did to Walcott, and if this does not prove the case you can put me on accord as being the most looled man in San Francisco."

There is never a day goe: by that Tim son that he is a noner of merit, his every move indicates a natural boxer. And this no doubt is ust what Langford is, a natural boxer, for he has never had a real lesson in the fine are of the game and has never been pampered and potted and his never ber pampered and potted and his never ber pampered and potted as most fighters have. Yet with all this against him he is an exceptionally clover fellow and his work in the ring the night he meets Jim Flyan will be well worth seeing.

Anxious to Play Local Men

The possibility of promoting a three-cushion tourney with Oakland players pitted against the San Franciscos still exists, although the trans-bay sports seem rather evasive. Our boys are ulling to meet them in any kind of a game, any old time, providing at least half of the games are played here in Oakland. the games are played here in Cakland. A relay tournament proposition was put up to them and turned down. Then Cakland came back with a proposition to play a team tourney at three cushions. Turned down again! Then an individual tourney. No response. The impression rather prevails on this side that they would rather take no chances. It does book that way, doesn't it?

Burns, who met Brunner last week at balk line, is a fine fellow, and took his defeat pidlosophically. He ddan't like it much, but I don't know anyone that relations.

interesting statement concerning an appeal to the Oakland Traction Company

"President Heron of the Oakland Traction Company could make himself very much thought of just at this time if he would make good his promise made several months ago to the citizens' committee of Hayward when he said that just as soon as the double track was finished that the company would no doubt concede to this city a 30-cent round-trip fare, express cars night and morning and a commutation fare of $3 per month, the same as now granted by the Southern Pacific.

"Mr Heron, if he wants to do the right thing by Hayward, should grant the promised concessions as a Christmas gift and start the New Year for a Grenter Hayward hand-in-hand with the people of Flaward.

"Mr Heron and the efficials of the Traction Company know, as well as anyone else that the high and and the service are hurting the town 365 days in the year. If the Oakland Traction Company had a 5-cent commute and a service by which Hayward people would not have to stand up until they pass San Leandro, things would be different here. Nat Goodwin's Crafty Scheme of Revenge on a Former Rival

Reform School Methods at the Bottom of the Trouble at Stanford

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—In the jamming up of Rawhide Coalition stock some of the shrewd brokers on the street see an effort on the part of Nat Goodwin to ruin his hated rival, Harry MacMillau, in a good old melodramatic fashion. It will be remembered that MacMillan won Edna Goodrich away from Goodwin for a time and was supposed to have paid for those gowns with which the beautiful actress dazzled and astonished two continents.

Well, Nat is now at the head of the mining promotion firm of Nat C. Goodwin & Co. The commercial brains of the concern is none other than our old clocker friend "Jack Hornaday"- . George Graham Rice, who afterward promoted mining ventures and raised cane with fortunes in partnership with Billy Arkell and Sullivan. At present Goodwin and Rice are promoting a mining scheme called Rawhide Coalition.

Mining men say the mine promises to be a good one when transportation and milling facilities are improved. It has been developed by leasers, who found much ore, but little that was rich enough to ship under present conditions. Consequently its value is still largely problematical.

But after the usual Rice method Rawhide Coalition has been capitalized with 3,000,000 shares of a par value of $1.00 a share. Its present price, between $1.35 and $1.40 a share, shows the value of the mine at over $4,000,000. That's a wad of money. Is there a mine in all California that couldn't be purchased for that amount, fully developed and with a complete milling attach-

Naturally a man would think that such a stock would be a good thing to short, and it is told that Harry MacMillan and Miller—the former Vice President of Goodwin's company, who is now suing for an accounting—have shorted the stock in large amounts. Right here steps in Goodwin, as the villain of melodrama, and plots revenge on the young man who for a time suceceded in wooing from him the woman who is now his wife. Aha! 1e says, coming down the center of the stage.

Finding that MacMillan had shorted the stock, Goodwin at once published an offer to buy any part of 100,000 shares of Rawhide Coalition at $1.30 per share. This, of course, sent the value of the stock up and kept MacMillan from realizing on his shortage venture. Out came the old familiar Graham Rice advertisements, telling people that the stock was intrinsically worth $5 a share - which would be $15,000,000 for the mine - and that a fraudulent effort was being made to depress values for the benefit of the shorts.

All of this is expected to rip open MacMillan's already depleted pocket and force the young plunger to the wall. Whereupon the revenge of Nervy Nat is presumed to be complete after the most approved stage fashion.

Our Henry T. Scott ball at the St. Frances wa, the nearest approach to the old-fashioned hospitality of the days of Ralston that we have yet seen. There was more champagne uncorked than at a dozen ordinary functions. Dancing did not get under way until nearly midnight and it lasted until dawn. People tell of getting home at 7 and 7:30 o'clock. Some even went out to the reach from the ball, as if the pleasures of dancing and drinking required a whiff of cool sea air to give them the appropriate

Of course there were many flushed faces among the dancers. Eyes danced with the wine, and some of our extreme religious friends might have disapproved of the late hours and the furiousness of the fun. But when all is said and done, not a breat's of scandal has followed the great ball. There has been no aftermath. Perhaps some of the society wine agents are elated and others correspondingly depressed, but the wars and woes of the wine agents have become a jest, and no one takes them seriously. In short, the great Scott ball has gone far toward putting the St. Francis on an equal social footing with the Fairmont, which was really its principal intention.

The warfare between the two big hotels has extended to the employees, and the rivalries become amusing in the exemplifications. The stewards and the porters, the bell boys and the chambermaids, the concierges and the waiters all seem mixed up in the rivalry, and there is a sort of fierce commercial strife that is getting as intense as the bitterness between the houses of Montague and Capulet.

Perhaps the most amusing outgrowth of this condition is the rivalry of the chefs. Surely the guests at the two hotels are reaping the benefit of this. If the man on the hill puts out a new and toothsome dish, the man on the flat attempts to match and excel him. The markets are ravished for the best and the newest. Orders for produce are sent afar. The Burbank cactus came into the Fairmont's gustatory plan as part of the cuisine rivalry—the battle of the pot against the pan.

Just now the Christmas menu is the subject of the contest. Of course the papers, after their custom, will publish the menus of the two hotels and the leading restaurants, and now the cordon bleu at the Fairmont is endgeling his brain and the cordon bleu it the St. Francis is wrinkling his brow over menus that shall be the finest ever offered in this western world. What wouldn't the one give to get a peep at the compilation of the other? But one thing may be taken as certain—the homeless and foundless wanderer who wants a truly toothsome Christmas dinner can be sure of the dinner of his life at the St. Francis or the Fairmont.

There is a bit of a fad this year for taking Christmas dinner in the Yosemite Valley. Parties are being made up to go in over the new railroad by way of Merced and El Portal. In one company will be some men from Los Angeles, who are to join a group from San Francisco. Among the southerners will come the popular and witty Ben Lathrop, once the idol of "the Family," which club will give him a royal welcome. He is now in charge of the big brokerage business of J. C. Wilson in the southern city.

From Lathrop has come a characteristic story. The differ ence in time between New York and Los Angeles makes it necessary for a broker to be up and at work very early in the morning, as the stock buyers and sellers flock in for the opening wires. So Lathrop has been accustomed to getting his breakfest at the Hotel Alexandria before dawn. He said to a friend:

"I thought I'd lost my job the other day."

"ITow was that?"

"My alarm clock went wrong."

"Never saw one in your room."

"It wasn't in my room. One of these one-lung chaps lived next to me and promptly at five-thirty every morning he began coughing furiously. That awakened me with great regularity and I depended upon my neighbor as an eye-opener. Well, the other morning when I awakened it was broad day -ten o'elock. My absence from the office had raised morry thin. When I came to make inquiries I found that my alarm clothered died buing the night.'

The student as are committee of Stanford continues to have trouble with the undergraduates, and there is talk of making more rules and drawing the rein tighter on the young folks. Prefessor Elliott explains that the students are merely boarding school boys and girls, and cannot be treated as men and

But the youngsters at Palo Alto are not different from Berkeley students. Between the years of seventeen and twentythree mankind is about the same in one place as in another. Why do the authorities at Stanford find it more difficult to deal with young people than other colleges?

An experienced educator who is familiar with the Stanford situation tells me that the idiosyncrasics of Professor Clarke, charman of the students affairs committee, are the chief cause of the friction between the faculty and the student body.

Professor Clarke is an eighteenth century Puritan, with a morbid distaste of everything savoring of gaicty or high spirits. His ideas of student discipline were gained in a reform school, in which he served time as an instructor. In his eyes there is no difference between the students at Stanford and the ing ates of a reform. It is his firm conviction that the Palo Alto youngsters are a parcel of young vagabonds who deserve at least one thrashing a week. In his opinion the girls ought to be spanked and set to washing dislies or running a sewing machine. A piously austere Prohibitionist, the taint of heer on a student's breath causes his starched virtue to grow stern and fierce.

And he suspects dreadful things. The things that actually occur are but a faint suggestion to his imagination of the frightful orgics indulged in by the imps of sin congregated at Palo Alto. He is forever smelling, tasting, listening and spying around in his efforts to unearth the hidden unmorality that prevails all around him.

Naturally he is an object of dislike and ridicule. Was the e ever a body of healthy young people in the world that would not despise and make game of such a man as Clarke? He is lumpooned and caricatured with all the ingenious deviltry of you thful malice. This grates on the harsh, natolerant nature of a man who makes little allowances for the volatile vitality of youth, and seems unable to enter into the spirit of the springtime of life. Hence misunderstandings pile up, and the breach between the students and the director of their affairs grows contimually wider.

It all has its beginning in the wrong viewpoint of a man entirely out of touch and sympathy with the students, and who is unable to free himself from his reform school impressions.

One of the proposed amendments to the Criminal Code of California, which has been endorsed by the Commonwealth Club, and which the Legislature will be asked to enact into law, should be designated "A measure to promote and encourage foot racing." The Commonwealth Club is just now engaged in an effect to facilitate the conviction and jailing in State prison of accused persons. As a means to this end they will ask the Legislature to amend the law by which a witness in cases of perjury, bribery, conspiracy and falsification of public records mar plead his constitutional privilege to refuse to testify he cause it might tend to incriminate or degrade lim. The Commorwealth Club would force all such witnesses to testify, but as a r ward or an inducement for them to do so they would offer immunity to the first witness who passes under the wire. fastest sprinter and the first to get to cover is to be given a pardon in advance, but all witnesses who come after the first one must stand trial, because for these slow sprinters there will be no immunity.

Should this proposed measure be passed by the Legislature the cinder paths of Golden Gate Park will probably be much patronized by those witnesses who wish to train for the contests that are sure to follow in the scramble to be the first to get into the witness chair.

The general scheme, of the Commonwealth Club in its efforts to oil the legal highways leading to State prison is to give the Judges greater power and deprive the defendant of many of the privileges he now enjoys.

Grand Jurors after having been selected by a Judge are not to re challenged for bias or other cause, no matter if it can be shown that the whole nineteen members of the inquisition are prejudiced. The selection of the Grand Jurors by a Judge is to be a final judgment from which shall be no appeal or even protest.

There is a belief in political circles that General James F. Smith, the present Civil G werner of the Philippines, will not be forgotten when the Federal loaves and fishes are distributed by President Taft. General Smith and President-elect Taft have been warm frinds as well as closely associated in public affairs for some time, these relations having had their inception at the time Taft was Governor-General of the Islands. Later General Smith a companied Secretary Taft to Rome and assisted in the satisfactory settlement of the Friar lands question, which had given a dications of causing much friction, if not serious trouble, in d plomatic circles. General Smith's name is being mentioned in connection with a Cabinet portfolio or an appointment to the dederal bench, either of which will mean his return to this courtry, which is said to be his desire.

General Smith, before he Spanish war and his subsequent rapid advancement in the Philippine service, was best known in San Francisco as Captain dim Smith, a flery young lawyer and an officer of the National G and of California. He was a quicktempered and at times a lot-headed practitioner of the com-

The story is told of is encounter with Superior Judge James V. Coffey, who has presided over the probate department in this city for many years. Judge Coffey had a habit of saying sharp, if not very sarcastic, things to young lawyers, at times greatly to the discomfiture of the latter. On one or two occasons Judge ('offey seemed o take a delight in putting Captain Jim over his satirical hurdles, much to the disgust and anger of the latter. One day the Judge and the Captain met on the street. The latter approacted the jurist and in wrathful tones said: "You little redhead of son-of-a-gun, if you ever talk to me in the way you did in ourt today again I will knock your

Now the Judge and the Captain had been friends for many years and Coffey simply aggested to the belligerent soldier lawyer, "You wouldn't do inything as bad as that, would you,

It is related, however that Judge Coffey never again at tempted to banter Captain Jim when the latter appeared in his

Notwithstanding the next municipal election for San Fran cisco is nearly a year off and the primary for the choosing of delegates to the nominatin; conventions will not be held until next August, and possibly not until September, there being a movement on foot to get legislative action putting it off until the latter month, there is lready much talk of the shaping of fights for that contest an several candidates are being dis-

Possibly the most prominent of these is James D. Phelan, who aspires to once more till the chair of Mayor of San Francisco. Phelan has been laving pipe for some time to secure the coveted nomination and offi e. But as Dr. Taylor is a candidate to succeed himself, the pre iminary skirmishes which will come over the disposition of par onage that are sure to play an important part in the political game are expected to be most in-

The Mission district of the city is not lacking in candidates for Mayor on the Republi an end, for not only is John Rolph, banker, real estate and improvement club man, being discussed, but George Center, the pr sent Supervisor, has many who are shouting his praises.

Center has large interests at the Mission, being the principal beneficiary under the will of his uncle, known as the "Father of the Mission," and who recently died leaving a valuable estate. Center is also largely interested, if not the principal owner, of a street railway in San Jose.

Marshall Hale, the dry goods man, is another candidate in the mentioned list. Exac y where Hale stands in partisan politics is not clear, but h is regarded as strong from a votegetting viewpoint, he having once acted as Grand Marshal of a labor procession.

Early in the campaign just closed Hale was a member of the executive committee of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, but resigned. Later the Leaguers sought to nominate Hale for Congress from the Fifth district in the place of Hayes, but the dry goods merchant was called to Europe on business and his Congressional campaign, or the one that was being made for him, was brought to an end.

The friends of Walter S. Stafford, president of the State Board of Barbor Commi sioners, have been endeavoring to convince him that he is the man for Mayor. Stafford professes to be somewhat skeptical on this point and believes that be has troubles enough where he is and has no desire to add to them.

Early in the new year Mayor Taylor will have a large number of important appoint nents to make, and these will be watched with special interest because of their effect upon the subsequent political campa gn. It is not thought that Phelan's voice will be as effective a: it once was in advising the Mayor as to his selections. Each appointment made by Taylor is ex pected to have a special political significance and intended to promote his own aspirations for continuance in office and not contributing to the ambitio is of his rival for Mayor.

Heretofore Phelan ha been a potent factor in the shaping of Taylor's political policies and has been regarded as the most influential of the Mayor's advisers, with perhaps the exception of Harry McKannay, the private secretary to the head of the city government. But this situation has changed and Taylor now seems to regard Phelan as a political adversary rather than an adviser.

The control of the Board of Public Works is considered as most important from the point of political strategy, because of the extensive patronage at the command of this department.

Michael Casev and Tom Egan were for some time the majority in control of this machine, but as Casey failed to make good in the Labor Convention the patronage was taken from him and given to a new pool formed by Egan and Day, the third member of the Commission. But now it is said that Egan "must go" at the expiration of his term, which will be early in the coming year. As the new appointee will be the pivotal member in the control of the political patronage, for the reason that he will make the majority of the Board by combining with either Casey or Day, his selection is being watched with much interest by the politicians.

Patrick Broderick, who was smuggled into a civil service job to which he was not eligible by the trick and device of giving the place a new name, not being on the civil service list, is being urged as candidate by one of the factions. In addition to the job specially named for his benefit, Broderick found that he had a law suit on his hands.

Tom Reagan, former Police Commissioner, was the first cligible on the Civil Service list for the place that was renamed in the interest of Broderick. Reagan brought a contest in the courts and Broderick's salary was hung up pending the determination of the litigation. Now Broderick's supporters are seeking to get him a job with a salary by securing for him an appointment as Commissioner to succeed Egan.

Among the candidates that are well to the fore for the appointment to the Board of Public Works to succeed Tom Egan is Edward Scully, an employe of Mahony Brothers, the building contractors. Scully is a member of the San Francisco Democratic Club, which is composed in the main of bolters from the regular Democratic machine, and he has actively opposed the party organization and particularly Phelan for some time. But Scilly is said to be the candidate, and to have the active support of Harry McKannay, the Mayor's private secretary, which makes him a candidate who must be considered in this contest. There are those among the politicians who predict that Scully will get the appointment.

Among the numerous appointments to be made by the May or is a Park Commissioner to succeed William H. Metson, whose term expires with the year. Metson was first appointed by the late Governor Budd, and subsequently succeeded under the Phelan administration by Frank J. Sullivan, the brother-in-law of the then Mayor. Under the Schmitz administration Metson was reappointed and the question of whether he will succeed himself is being asked.

Other plums from the tree of political patronage which the Mayor will soon distribute are the following:

Civil Service Commissioner to succeed former Judge George H. Bahrs; Election Commissioner to succeed Voorsanger; Fire Commissioner to succeed II. M. Wreden; Police Commissioner to succeed Hugo Keil; School Director to succeed Altmann.

In the matter of the situation of a Chief of Police to succeed Biggy it is the opinion of those well informed that should the choice be confined to members of the Department it would be either Captain John Seymour or Captain John Martin, both former officers of this branch of the City Government, Seymour having retired to take a responsible position with Wells-Fargo, and Martin being laid up temporarily with rheumatism.

Prior to the selection of Biggy for Chief, General Woodruff, formerly of the regular army, was the choice of Mayor Taylor and this preference contributed to the long delay in the selection of the Chief who recently disappeared in the waters of the bay of San Francisco. It may be that Mayor Taylor still feels inclined to appoint Woodruff.

There has been talk of the selection of Sergeant Jesse Cook for Chief. Cook was conspicuous in the Department during the adm nistration of George Wittman as the man with the deadly eve. The Mongolians in the Chinese quarter believed that when Cook's orb was turne in full focus upon one of their number it was equivalent to a doom of death for the unfortunate Pagan. Cook did not discoura e this belief in the powers of his optics and the Chinese held im in dread. When Wittman wished the gambling houses and brothels of the Chinese section closed he sent Sergeant Cook i to that district and they were shut down. When Wittman w hed to t row Chinatown wide open he withdrew the man with the deadly eye from that quarter and the gambling houses and esorts of ill-repute were immediately opened.

stronger with his friends than i his own ambition. Anderson is a wealthy man by marriage and also a very faithful officer. He believes that the duties of a Thief of Police at this crisis in the city's affairs would be such as to require the head of the Police Department to practical r live at headquarters, even sleeping there at night. Ande son also enjoys the ease and comforts of life, no small measure of which are now at his command, and he is not eager to gi e them up for the hard work and worries that would accompany the addition of a little gold braid to his uniform.

The lawyers are still discus ing the incidents of the Ruef trial. It is agreed that Hiram ohnson made a splendid closing argument, but old attorneys express surprise that he should have risked a reversal in the hig ier courts by saying things to the Jury which could only be construed as threats.

veterans of the bar, "Johnson's effort was one of the best proscenting speeches ever made in a an Francisco courtroom. He must have been carried away or se would not have uttered expressions which will probably be made the basis of an appeal, and which the Supreme Court I is on more than one occasion sternly rebuked."

Captain Marcellus Anderson is another candidate who is Countrymen Now Believe President Has Left Venezuela Forever.

BEGAN HIS CAREER AS A CATTLE THIEF

Started Out With Army of Twenty-Three Men and Overthrew Government,

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Dec. 12.-President Castro of Venezuela, it is deared here by his enemies, has no intention of returning to his own land It is declared that his voyage to Europe for the surpose of submitting to an operation is merely a ruse to cover his flight from Venezuela—and that he has gone abroad to enjoy the vast sum of money which he has stolen, selzed and grafted and from time to time de posited in the banks of Europe. This sum is estimated to aggregate all the way from $29,000,000 to $60,000,000. Such is the belief throughout Vene zuela today. It is universally credited that the trip which Castro is taking to Europe, ostensibly for medical treat ment, is in reality an abdication, and that, having made himself rich in his nine years' tenure of the office of president, he will spend the rest of his days in dissipation in Europe. EXPECTED THE TROUBLE.

Castro had received full information in advance of the determination of Holland to force justice in its claims timed his departure as to escape the Dutch warships now engaged in a spectacular demonstration off the coast

Additional evidence pointing to these facts came in a dispatch from Berlin to the effect that Dr. Israels, the noted surgeon that Castro had announce was to operate on him, had received Mutterings of revolt are heard al ready in Venezuela and a new revolu-tion—the fifty-ninth in the ninetyseven years of Venezuela's existenceis expected to start any day. ONCE A CATTLE THIEF.

Cipriano Castro, "the cattle thief President," "the little black monkey of the Andes," "he human porcupine," "the Bad Man of Caracas," the Assassin of the Andes"—to cite only a few of his many cognomens—is one of the most picturesque adventurers of all history, and the story of his risc from professional cattle thict to President, dictator and multi-millionaire, who set all the civilized powers by the ears, is a most amazing romance.

He is today at once a J. P. Morgan, a Napoleon, a Captain Kidd, a Senator Foraker and a "Fingy" Connors . He rose from the very dregs and by unique ability and unscrupulousness equally unique, he has made himself one of the conspicuous and interesting figures in the world. His newest title World's champion grafter."

Castro is pact negro, part Indian and part Spanish. He was born in 1860. He was one of sixty children of a small found on January 25, 1905, by Mr. F. Cachira, on the slopes of the Andes near the Colombia border, his father being a believer in Mormon doctrines.

Young Castro tended cattle, ran , while its girth varied, according to position, from 8% to 11 ½ inches. business of cattle thieving—and it was a business in that part of Venezuela in raid on the same day, and put Castro out of business.

The future dictator was greatly annoyed. He vowed vengeance, and took to politics to carry it out. He joined a two-by-four revolution, which soon collapsed. However, he was elected a member of Congress, and proved himself the "Sockless Jerry" Simpson of South Africas.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—Rather more than a year has passed since Sir Richard Solomon, Agent-General of the Transvaal in London, and Sir Francis Hopwood, the Under-Secretury of State for the Colonies, went down to Sandlugham to present King Edward with a birthday present from the Transvaal government. This was the famous Cullinan Diamond, found on January 25, 1985, by Mr. E.

POLISHING IS BEGUN. The Cullinan diamond was split by Mr. dent Andrado to get them back. The President refused, and Castro returned to his cattle range in a rage, determined to start a revolution. As he left the palace he bellowed to a hooting and jeering crowd: "The next time I return to Caracas it will be at the head of an army." Indeed, he spoke the truth.

WEARS GLOVES, BUT NO SHOES.

Like the other cattle rangers he never had worn shoes and socks in his life, and he entered the halls of Congress in bare leet. Finding that shoes ware quite the proper thing in the capital, he bought a pair and would wear them to the Capitol each day, remove them, place them on his desk and put them on again as he left the building.

They are the most elaborate and expensive west of Chicago. Jackson Furniture Company puts up three beauties that sparkle.

Yesterday the Jackson Furniture Company placed before its store, 519-525 Tweffth street one of the most splendid electrical affects to be found west of Chicago. There are three actistic Verdi antique electroliers, each iolding five 100 wait Tungston lamps, making five 100 candle power to the electrolier, or 1500 candle power in the three, illuminating the street as light as day. This is an advance idea and entirely new in Oakland. Lighting the street in front of theke stores is the new electrical method of advertising adopted by all the leading merchants in the larger cities. GRAND DUCHESS FOUNDS DEACONESS' HOME

BERLIN, Dec. 12. - The statement has repeatedly been made in various European and Ameri-can papers that the widow of the murdered Grand Dugo Serge, Grand Duck-ess Elizabeth Feedorowna, sister of the Czarina, had taken the veil and entered a numery. One paper even published her daily life in a convent, where speech was forbidden.

The fact is that the Grand Duchess. who has always been interested in charlty, and who is the idol of the people of Mescow, has founded in that city what we would call a "Deacon-ess home," the object of which is to supply the population of the poorer classes with free nurses, district visiters and infant school teachers.

Divorce Suit Rumored With French Beauty as the Cause.

PARIS. Dec. 12 .- There are persistent rumors of a pending divorce suit between Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Drexel on account of the husband's friendship for Mme. Henry Letellier, one of the reigning beauties of Paris.

None of the interested parties will speak, but certain facts go to prove that there is a serious dispute in the Drexel menage. There is still a chance that the difficulty may be smoothed ever, owing, so her intimate friends say, to the shrewd diplomacy of Mrs. Diexel, who refuses to open her eyes too wide. Drexel has paid great attention to Mme. Letellier, who is a spoiled beauty and extremely fond of admiration. He says his only desire is to protect her from worse mischief. This explanation of his ever-increasing intimacy for the pretty blande has been accepted by Mrs. Drexel who, in maternal fushion, supervises his phil-

Value of Publicity to Oakland.

During the month of November, the number of building permits teen of the cities named, while it outranks twenty-one, namely, transacted here would give it when sent aboard. Omaha, Rochester, New York; Tacoma, Atlanta, Indianapolis, New (Nebraska; Divenport, Pueblo, Colorado; Des Moines, Stockton value of this kind of publicity was quickly recognized on the other territory lying west of San Leandro creek and yet the total value of the November building permits only amounted to $260,123. If which undoubtedly had the effect of doubling the clearings. Comthe data for the new building started during November in the three parisons with previous years thus made a wonderfully favorable cities and so much of their suburbs as lie west of San Leandro showing and helped immensely to restore public confidence in the creek, had been available it would doubtless show a total value rehabilitation of San Francisco, for not one man in a million who three times that of New Orleans.

Such facts as these relating to Oakland's progress are scarcely known outside of our own people. We have not learned the art stead of the old "steamer day" method of coin payments. If some the development of its natural resources has sprung from its intelligent application. What Oakland needs above all things at the events of April, 1906, brought Oakland conspicuously to the front before the whole civilized world, as a city which was large enough suddenly attaited. If we had, Oakland would be today one of the best known cities on the continent and the progress made would have been vast y greater than it has been.

Ideal Site for New Naval Dry Docks

In his annual report to Congress, which was prepared before his retirement from the Navy Department on the 1st of December, Secretary Metcalf recommended, among other things, the construction of a new naval dock or the acquisition of one by purchase in San Francisco harbor. The latter recommendation undoubte'dly related to the availability of the Hunter's Point drydocks. Since the report was prepared and printed, however, Charles M. Schwab closed a deal with the former owners of the property whereby it becomes allied with the Union Iron Works and an important factor in the carrying out of the elaborate plans formed for the expansion of that shipbuilding plant on an exceptionally large scale. In all probability, therefore, if Congress should act favorably on Secretary Metcalf's recommendation, the Hunter's Point docks would have to be elin inated from consideration as a possible acquisition, for their sale to the government would completely upset Schwab's plans for the expansion of the plant of the Union Iron Works.

When an infriendly agitation against the maintenance of the Mare Island Navy Yard was started by one of the naval bureau proposition to establish a new navy yard on the shores of San Francisco bay and it was broadly hinted that the government should take over the Hunter's Point docks for the purpose. The friends of the Mare Island Navy Yard rallied, however, to its defense and the project was defeated.

Secretary Metcalf's recommendation for the construction of a new dock on some available point on the bay shore has not been prompted by any unfriendliness to Marc Island Navy Yard, for it the same report he recommends that it be developed to its full capacity. The cruise of the Atlantic battleship fleet has demouestrated to the Navy Department the urgent necessity for increased maval dock facil ties on the Pacific Coast, particularly in San Francisco harbor. Even if the Hunter's Point drydocks had been available to the government by purchase, their possible exposure to bombardment from the offing, to which naval experts have hitherto called attention, would make them undesirable.

If new naval docks should be constructed in San Francisco bay, the most desirable location for them is on this side. What is more, The cost of construction of docks of larger magnitude than any at present in existence anywhere in the world is possible at a mini mum expense and at the least loss of time. Borings have been made on an extensive area of the broad marshes on the south side still, he admits that not every one is of the estuary which prove that it is underlaid with a bed of stiff clay forming an ideal foundation for drydock construction. And He doesn't care if the others get the the only thing needed to make such a site available for use by the largest vessels that can cross the Golden Gate bar is the deepening low. of Oakland harbor channel, which the government is doing now for the benefit of commerce.

Castro has undertaken an unprecedented experiment in the field of diplomacy, namely, as the ruler of a nation which has given offense through the enforcement of his own policy, visiting those governments whom he has offended in person as foreign minister they could do for us? in order to make his peace with them. He has been permitted to enter France as a private individual on the representation that he with a small but perfectly good $2 bill is seeking relief for a physical malady through a surgical operation. He wants to settle the differences between Venezuela and France during his stay at Paris, and, if he succeeds there, he will probably visit later the caritals of the other European nations he has offended in hope of accomplishing similar results. Public curiosity will be ready to accommodate the tride, if the excited to see what course he means to pursue toward the United ness States, which he has treated quite as cavalierly as any European nation. It looks as if Castro's game were to isolate the United States. If so, he will find himself up against the real thing.

Colonel Carrie Chapman Catt, the eminent crusader for women's wrights, is in danger of being enrolled among the nature fakers. She stigmatizes the President as a tree toud. The President has "knocked" the woman suffrage movement, hence the classification placing him in the reptilian category. But Colonel Catt is wrong. The President may be a climber but he is no toad. Toads have never drawn a distinction between good and bad truste.

BEST GIFT OF ALL

Eilers Music Co. furnishes the piano and the musical education is free.

A fine Piano or Autopiano a gift to all the family. Prices to suit the times at the Eilers store.

This is to be a Christmas for sound economy. No one can afford to put money into useless knick-knacks that have no value and that are forgotten in a day. A gift that is sensible, that adds to the pleasure of the home every day in the year; that is part of one's education itself, isn't a waste of money, but a careful investment What better answers the tests than a fine piano or gen-

Forty Good Makes

The Eilers Music Company offer forty different makes-the finest American planos in their respective grades, from the cheapest pianos that are dependable to those exemplifying the highest standards of workmanship and material. The world renowned Chickering, which has been in the lead for over fifty years, the aristocratic Hazelton, which predominates in the wealthiest New York homes, the California favorite, Decker & Son, the a tistic Kimball the beautiful Hobart M. Cable, the sweet-toned Hallet & Davis, the beautiful Lester and many others are open to your choice for the Christmas gift, and all at prices that make buying at this time a shrewd investment. Styles regularly priced at $275 now go at $168; $211 gets a piano right now which is usually sold for $325; $400 styles now $268, $278 and $284. Pay as little as $6 a month.

Free Music Lessons

Included with each piano sold in this great holiday sale s a four months' course of FREE MUSIC LES-SONS for which the Eilers Music Company pays the bill. This broad, liberal Christmas offering is in harmony with the times and will solve the Christmas question for many a family.

Tremendous Reduction in Prices

For the time being we are going to forget about profits entirely. We feel that the sales that will be made during the present month will do far more towards advertising our new big store which we have just occupied, 557-559 12th St., opposite the Orpheum than anything we can do.

Player Pianos

AS A SPECIAL PROPOSITION to admirers of the self-playing pianos, we are going to offer twelve new pianos in beautiful mahogany, burl walnut and golden oak cases; pianos which are absolutely warranted and which are usually sold from $650 to $750 at the most re-$375, $410, $460, $485, including $25 worth of Music free.

Pay by the Month if You Like

Not only are our prices reduced far below anything hitherto known, but you can pay in small monthly payments if you prefer Pianos will be set aside at the option of the purchasers and DELIVERED AT THE HOUR YOU REQUEST AT CHRISTMAS TIME.

Definite, Binding Guarantee

Remember that the EILERS MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE goes with every instrument that we sell -no other house has ever made such an offer Every instrument sold by us must give satisfaction or money refunded.

Dealers Report That Business Is Good Despite the Hollday Season.

"While we always expect December to be a pretty dult menth, on account of the approaching folidays," say Mason-McDuffie Comp. ny, "this December, judging from the sales we have already made, bids fair to be an exceptional month. In fact, it looks as though it would be a better month even than November. November, in spite of the fact that the national campaign excitement ran into the early part of the month. Was very satisfactory indeed. Our wales for that month approached very close to the $100,000 mark. We had a number of good sales in Claremont Park, Claremont Court and other parts of Berkeley. Noarly all of these sales were to home builders and on a number of these lots splendid residences have a ready been begun."

wickham Havers, president of the firm of Wickham Havers, president of parks and take Merritt, cordisting of parks and boulevards, is now beginning to make a fine showing. The lewns are already beginning to show and the boulevards are standing up well under the severe rains we have been constructed during the last few months to take care of the creeks in Pleasant Valley and Indian Guich are proving a great success. No surface water can be found within a few hours after the severest rain, proving that the work of the city engineer's office and the Pledmont Paving Company has been absolutely satisfactory. In spite of the rains, the building in East Pledmont Heights is continuing with unabated activity. Sales in this district and Fourth Avenue Terrace are holding up remarkably well considering the weather and the approaching heliday season."

the approaching holiday season.

In speaking of the general condition of the realty market, George W. Austin had the following to say:

"The Christmas holiday season is close at hand and our merchants and shop-keepers are gratifyingly busy serving their patrons, who are now more intent upon investing for pleasure than for profit, that is, peet alary profits. Therefore, there is no cason to expect any marked activity in the realty market. However, I am sure that there have been times in Onkland when less activity has characterized the market, and that, too when the holiday season was not engressing the attention of buyers. Only those prone to be pessimistic in their views as they loot ahead and try to discern the future and what its conditions in the financhal and business realm may be, will say that the indications for the coming year a se not promising. If there were evidence of scaletty among the people, then there might be basis for doubt as to the prosperous conditions.

Useful Gifts Are Kind Men Like Best

HRISTMAS presents are always difficult of election for a great many people, and it often happens that some useless novelty or trinket is chosen in the belief some folks have that the gifts should be something the recipient wouldn't buy himself. There is nothing more appropriate for members of the family or intimate friends than some seasonable gift in wearing apparel. In the list of suggestions offered below you will find the very articles men and boys would prefer to find in their Christmas stockings.

BLOODLESS SURGERY.

Known only to the European Experts and Hoodless Surgeons, and practiced exclusively by them, Mr. J. A. Bohn, fiving at 1313 7th avenue, has been instrumedly benefitted and relieved by Fer-Don's secret process. Among the hundreds who were present, waiting to consult these famous doctors, was Mr. Bohn, who had been treating with various doctors and surgeons for a crippled ankle for some time. He said:

"My leg had been stiff as a result of a broken ankle for some time. It was of no more use to me than if it had been of so much wood. I began treating with fer-Don's European Experts a tew days ago, and from the very first treatment experienced relief. I am happy to tell you, sir, that I can now twist my leg once more. It feels rejuvenated and I confidently expect I will be able to dance a lig before another week has gone by." The grateful man executed a Jig and thereby demonstrated to the reporter that his leg was indeed becoming of use to him again.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12 -The ex. tension of Southern Pacific-Mit. Shoets. line and Oregon Railway & Navigation Company line north from Poitland, to Tacoma and Scattle under the name of tha Oregon & Washington Railread Company is making rapid progress When completed during the next eighteen or twenty months, it is the intention of the Harriman officials to run through passenger trains between San Francisco and Scattle and through Pullman or two during the winter season between Los Angeles and Seattle by way of this city. In getting an entrance into Tacoma a tunnel 8,700 feet in length must be built. Its estimated cost is $3,000,000 and the work will involve the excavation of 480, 000 cubic feet of earth and rock. In connection with the tunnel a drawbridge and half a mile of steel construction will be necessary. This latter work it is estimated will cost an additional $2,000,000. Contracts for the $5,000,000 of work are to be let within the next few weeks.

All the necessary terminal property in both Tacoma and Sentile has been purchased by the ifarriman interests and Hill and Harriman have ended their respective fights against each other in that section of the country. Both have rained spective fights against each other in that section of the country. Both have gained their points. Itili already has a line between Portland and Scattle and is completing a line from the East into the Oregon metropolis. Harriman's Oregon railway gives Portland an outlet to the East. When they finish the work on hand the two magnates therefore will command entrances into Portland from both the North and East and both will have strong lines into Tacoma and have strong lines into Tacoma

Fees and Traveling Expenses for 104 Witnesses Is $50,000 Alone.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12 -Robert M. Martin, a Washington (D. C) attorney, who is at the Hotel Majestic, says the expense of the land fraud rials of Frederick A. Hyde, John A. Benson, and Henry P. Dimond of San Francisco, and Joost II. Snelder of Tucson, Ariz, has established a record in the annals of the District of Co-lumbia Supreme Court. It is estimated he says, that the trial cost $167,000, divided as follows: Jury fees, board and lodging, $6000; witness fees and traveling expenses, $50,000; stonographic reports, $11,000; handwriting expert, $1000; counsel fees, $100,000.

These figures do not take into account the $20,000 expended last year In taking eighty witnesses across the continent only to have the trial post-poned, nor the numerous trips across the continent for the defendants and their attorneys. 104 WITNESSES.

"Practically all the defense witnesses," said Martin, "nere taken to Washington at the expense of the United States because the fact that hey were not financially able to pay for their own witnesses. The traveling expenses alone of 104 witnesses from the West to the capital aggrea small fortune, the railroad tares, meals, berths and other necesvary adjuncts of travel totaling approximately $400 for each one. Congress at its last session put in the general deficiency bill an appropriation of $10,000, so that the witness could get $3 instead of $1.25 a day while in attendance at court. At different attendance at court. At different times during the trial several witnesses were practically stranded in Washington until this appropriation was made 12 ATTORNEYS IN CASE.

This does not apply to town cars which, on both imported and American chassis, are being disposed of with considerable freedom in disposed of with considerable freedom in the large trading centers. Factories in general are working to their capacities and in some places with day and night shifts with little popular fear of overproduction. The general results are expected with the opening of the spring season which, weather conditions permitting, ought to be somewhat in advance of that of previous years.

Frederick Lenz is in receipt of a letter from the Maxwell-Br scoe factory stating that J. Plerpont Blorgan has ordered two four-cylinder Maxwell touring cars and two tourabouts. Out of the eight or ten automobiles Mr. Morgan owns the Maxwell is the only American car represented.

The third shipment of Wintons will arrive this week.

The Appearon car is expected to make its appearance in San Francisco Monday, It is to be handled by the Auto Livery Company on Van Ness and Golden Gate.

LARGE ORDERS FOR MAXWELLS

Plans on Foot for Large Show | Savannah Showing Good for

Frederick Lenz, president of the Maxwell-Briscoe Pacific Company, has re-turned from a trip through Oregon and Washington, a trip which Mr. Lenz pro-nounces the most successful of any he nounces the most successful of any he has undertaken from the business viow-point. Orders were taken for 162 Maxwells, which brings the total Maxwell order for this territory up to 722. The Maxwell people are anticipating a big season.

In speaking of recent experiences of the Maxwell, Mr. Lenz said:
"The performance of the Maxwell light brignde of four two-cylinder cars at Savannah fully came up to the Maxwell's reputation for unfailing reliability and consistent running under the most stringent conditions. Running side by ride with the terromand four-sylinder cars. ent conditions. Running side by fide with higher-powered four-cylinder cars, two of the four cars ran with greater regularity than any of their competitors except the Lancia, which ran with the second greatest regularity. For instance, Kelsey's time per lap was 12:59, 12:54, 12:56, 12:57, and so on; See circulated the course in 12 41, 12,35, 12:34, 12:31, 13:32,

STOCK MARKET IN HOLIDAY TRADE GOOD CONDITION

President's Messaage Was a Helpful Factor and Report on Wheat Encouraging

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—The week's speculation in the stock market has broadened out so as to embrace departments of the list which havy been neglected Numerous unverlied rumors of supposed railroad mergers and new alternative lave accompanied this speculation. The President's message served as a helpful dactor, by reason of its omissions as much as by its contents. The government report on vinter wheat relieved gome anxiety concerning that

The copper market was called better, and it was reported that the early placing of large orders for sivel products by the fallroads was expected. Microy became former and the gold export movements to Parls were resumed, and the speculation was inclined to look with confidence to the bridging of the end year period without huriful stringency.

"Waste of Time," Says Chicago Judge: Governors Ought to Be Home Savthe Starving and Neglected.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12 .- Judge McKenin Clelland, addressing a meeting at the Washington Home last night, said that instead of the Governors attending a national conference for the conervation of natural resources, they would do better to conserve the 10 .-008,000 poverty-stricken people in the country by practical legislation.
Judge Clelland declared that the conference at Washington is a waste of time. "The Governors are talking isbout saving natural gas," he said,

"when they might be at home doing something practical that will save the underfed from dying of tuberculosis, which is brought about by poverty and poor sanitation. What we need more than a conference of Gover-nors is the display of common horse sense to treat of the difficulties that exist. We should begin right with the head of the nation. We have a Sec-retaary of the Interior. There is no Ronger any interior We should have United States Department of Charities and Corrections, with a secrelegislation that will save the making

WOULD PROVIDE FOR LEGATIONS

Longworth to Lead Fight for Purchase of Buildings in Foreign Lands.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.-Determined that the dignity of the United States shall no longer be jeopardized by the failure of this government to provide suitable bui dings for its diplomatic and consular representatives abroad, advocates of an immediate appropriation to begin the construction or purchase of suitable buildings have decided to press the matter at the present session of Congress. Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohlo will lead the fight again this session, as he did last year.

The members of the committee on foreign affairs have agreed to stand behind the Longworth bill, introduced at the last session, asking for the appropriation of $1.000,000 annually for the construction and purchase of em-busiles, legations and consular build-

Longworth would be satisfied if Congress merely authorized the Secre-tary of State to procure the buildings without making any appropriations at this time. This would serve as an authorization of the work and at some other time an item could be inserted into the general appropriation bill, providing the money for this purpose.

CLAIM WEALTHY MAN SHOT ENGINEER IN HIS CAB

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 12.-There was much excitement in Durham yesterday caused by the arrest there of Reuben Barbee, agod 44 years, a wealthy citizen of that city, charged with the assassination of Engineer Fred Holt of Spencer, by shooting him in his cab on the Southern Railway preliminary hearing today. The arrest was made by Special Detective W. J. Ashburn of Salisbury. A number of engineers, conductors and other rail-road men left. Spencer for Durham yesterday afternoon.

JEROME MAY SUE FOR ROOSEVELT

Libel Suit in Panama Controversy Must Go Through State Courts.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—An official of the government, who is fairly well posted as to the Panama Canal scandal talk, said today that he did not understand that the intimation as to possible criminal libel prosecution referred to contemplated action of the Federal court. There is no criminal libel law on the Federal statute books, and any action of this kind would have to be aken in the State courts.

He said, however, that there is an unwritten code of courtesy between

SCOW AND LAUNCH SMASH ON BOCKS

en Ashore During High Wind

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 12 .- A. J. Coffey, in charge of the gasoline launch Swastlka, which started from Port Orchard yesterday morning 'or a logging camp on Hood's canal with a scow containing three men in tow and two extra men on the launch, telegraphed this noon to the owner of the ; launch, Frank H. Meyers of Port Or-chard, that the Swastika and scow were foul with the bluff, about twenty miles north of Seattle. There was a severe wind blowing all last night on > the present telephone monopoly in the only on the publication of mere news-elty of New York is to continue unbroken process, but for the increased circulamay be decided soon by Judge McLean in the Supreme Court. Action in the matter is revived by the application of the New York Independent Telephone Company for a peremptory writ of mandamus to compel the city to issue a permit to lay a three-quarter inch cable through Wall street from William to Hanover street. Upon the right to lay this cable it needs from the United States practically rests the validity of the independent company's franchise. It is alleged by those opposing the independent company's plan that the company was organized to conduct a largiar alarm, not a tolephone service. A decision in the case will be rendered shortly.

Small Craft and its Tow Driv- Attempt to Lay Cable Depends on Ruling of State Supreme Judge,
